A Real Blessing to Mothers.

Dr. Wm. Evans' Celebrated Soothing Syrup, FOR CHILDREN CUTTING THEIR TEETH.
This infallible remedy has preserved hundreds of children, when thought past recovery, from convulsions. As soon as the Syrup is rubbed on the gums, the child will recover. This preparation is so innocent, so efficacious, and so pleasant, that no child will refuse to let its gums be rubbed with it. When infants are at the age of four months, though there is no appearance of teeth, one bottle should be used on the gums to open the pores. Parents should never be without the Syrup in the nursery where there are young children; for if a child wakes in the night with pain in the gums, the Syrup immediately gives ease by opening the pores and healing the gums, thereby preventing convulsions, Fevers, &c.

The passage of the teeth through the gums produces troublesome and dangerous symptoms. It is known by mothers that there is a great irritation in the mouth and gums during the process. The gums swell, the secretion and saliva is increased, the child is seized with frequent and sudden fits of crying, watchings, starting in the sleep, and spasms of peculiar parts: the child shrieks with extreme violence, and thrusts its fingers into its mouth. If these precursory symptoms are not speedily alleviated, spasmodic convulsions universally supervene, and soon cause the dissolution of the infant. Mothers who have their babes afflicted with these distressing symptoms, should apply Dr. Wm. Evans' celebrated Soothing Syrup, which has preserved hundreds of infants when thought past recovery, from being suddenly attacked with that fatal malady, convulsions.

DIRECTIONS.

When children begin to be in pain with their teeth shooting in their gums, put a little of the Syrup in a tea-spoon, and with a finger let the child's gums be rubbed for two or three minutes, three times a day. It must not be put to the breast immediately, for the milk would take the Syrup off too soon. When the teeth are just coming through their gums, mothers should immediately apply the Syrup, it will prevent their children having a fever, and undergoing that painful operation of lancing the gums, which always makes the next tooth much harder to come through, and sometimes causes death.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR A BOTTLE.

"A gentleman who has made the trial of Dr. W. Evans' Soothing Syrup in his family, (in case of a teething child,) wishes us to state that he found it entirely effectual in relieving pain in the gums, and preventing the consequences which sometimes follow. We cheerfully comply with his request."—New York Sun.

"We believe it is generally acknowledged by those who have tried it, that the soothing Syrup for children cutting their teeth, advertised in another column, is a highly useful article, for the purpose for which it is intended. Highly respectable persons, at any rate, who have made use of it, do not hesitate to give its virtues the sanction of their names."—Boston Traveller.

A severe case of teething with summer complaint cured by the infallible American soothing Syrup of Dr. Wm. Evans. Mr. Therson, residing at No. 9, Madison street, called a few days since at the Medical office of Dr. Wm. Evans, 100 Chatham street, purchased a bottle of the Syrup for her child who was suffering excruciating pain during the process of dentition, being momentarily threatened with convulsions; its bowels, too, were exceedingly loose, and the food could be retained in the stomach. Almost immediately on its application the alarming symptoms entirely ceased, and by continuing the use of the Syrup on the gums, the bowels, in a short time, became quite natural. As a tribute of gratitude for the benefit afforded the child, the mother came of her own accord, and freely sanctioned publicity to the above.

A single trial of this invaluable medicine will test its unequalled virtues.
In no instance in the many thousand cases where it has been used has it failed to give immediate relief to the infant sufferer.

An interesting case of Dyspepsia and Leucorrhoea with a general weakness of the system restored to health and vigor, by the beneficial influence of Dr. Evans' celebrated Female Pills. A. M.—, 36 years of age, was affected for the period of fourteen months with the following distressing symptoms:—Total loss of appetite, great languor and debility, with pain in the side, loins, back, and legs, indistinct vision, such as wavy appearance before the eyes, palpitation of the heart, faintness, appearance and feeling as if dying, a whitish discharge from the lips livid, and the cheeks blanched and sallow, the least exercise occasioned fatigue, and her mind was penurious and depressed, her feet were swollen, and her memory impaired, with many symptoms of weakness and exhaustion of the constitution. Dr. Wm Evans' Celebrated Medicines.

ARE composed of vegetable substances, which exert a specific action upon the heart, give an impulse or strength to the arterial system; the blood is quickened and equalized in its circulation through all the vessels, whether of the skin, the parts situated internally, or the extremities; and as all the secretions of the body spring from the blood, there is a consequent increase of every secretion, and a quickened action of the absorbent and exhalant, or discharging vessels. Any morbid action which may have taken place is corrected, all obstructions are removed, the blood is purified, and the body resumes a healthy state.

They are so compounded, that by strengthening and equalizing the action of the heart, liver, and other viscera, they expel the bad acid or morbid matter which renders the blood impure, out of the circulation, through the excretory ducts into the passage of the bowels, so that by the brisk or slight evacuations, which may be regulated by the doses, always remembering that while the evacuations from the bowels are kept up, the exertions from all the other vessels of the body will also be going on in the same proportion, by which means the blood invariably becomes purified.

Steady perseverance in the use of the medicines will undoubtedly effect a cure, even in the most acute or obstinate diseases; but in such cases the dose may be augmented, according to the inveteracy of the disease; the medicines being so admirably adapted to the constitution, that they may be taken at all times.

In all cases of hypochondriacism, low spirits, palpitations of the heart, nervous irritability, nervous weakness, fluor albus, seminal weakness, indigestion, loss of appetite, flatulency, heartburn, general debility, bodily weakness, chlorosis or green sickness, flatulent or hysterical faintings, hysterics, headaches, hiccup, sea sickness, nightmare, gout, rheumatism, asthma, tic douloureux, cramp, spasmodic affections, and those whose victims to that most excruciating disorder, Gout, will find relief from their sufferings by a course of Dr. Wm. Evans' medicines.

Directions for taking the Camomile Pills, as well as Dr. Evans' Aperient Family Pills, always accompany them.

ASTHMA—Three years' standing.—Mr. Robert Monroe, Schuylkill, afflicted with the above distressing malady. Symptoms, great languor, flatulency, disturbed rest, nervous head-ache, difficulty of breathing, tightness and stricture across the breast, dizziness, nervous irritability and restlessness, could not lie in a horizontal position without the sensation of impending suffocation, palpitation of the heart, distressing cough, costiveness, pain of the stomach, drowsiness, great debility, and deficiency of the nervous energy. Mr. R. Monroe gave up every thought of recovery, and died despair at the countenance of every person interested in his existence or happiness, till by accident he noticed in a public paper some cures effected by Dr. Wm. Evans' Medicine in his complaint, which induced him to purchase a package of the Pills which he commenced using in strict accordance with the directions. He wishes to say his motive for this declaration is, that those afflicted with the same or any symptoms similar to those from which he is happily restored, may likewise receive the same inestimable benefit.

To Dr. Wm. Evans, 100 Chatham Street, New York.

Extract of a letter of Jonas Snyder, Postmaster, Kearsburg, Pa., to Dr. Wm. Evans.

Among several cases the following is found: An elderly lady, who had been 25 years so afflicted with nervous hypochondria, debility, &c. that for the last three years she constantly received medical aid from a respectable physician; but the pressure and pain on her heart and breast; and especially in her left side, remained immovable, attended at long intervals with weakness in her head and on her mind, keeping her discouraged to undertake any thing. In May she commenced using Dr. Wm. Evans' medicines according to the directions accompanying them. A reaction took place; the pain and pressure in her body was removed; her mind became clear and strong, her spirits perfectly good, and up to this time in all respects restored to health, which for the last ten years she has not enjoyed.

(Signed,) JONAS SNYDER.

THE AFRICANS.

HARTFORD, Sept. 23d.

The decision of Judge Thompson, concurred in by Judge Judson, was read this morning in the presence of a large number of persons. The Court opened at 8 o'clock, and even before this hour, the Court room was thronged to overflowing. A more interested audience—judging from the earnest attention of those present, were never assembled together. No one—the Judges excepted—knew what the decision was to be before the Court opened. The opinion, therefore, as furnished me by a friend who reported it almost verbatim, excited mingled satisfaction and disappointment. The abolitionists expected that the Africans would be set at liberty. The Spaniards are satisfied, and are content to leave the question at present in the hands of their counsel.

DECISION OF JUDGE THOMPSON.

On the opening of the Circuit Court, Monday, September 23d, Judge Thompson gave his decision with respect to the application of the prisoner's counsel, to have the Africans discharged under the writ of habeas corpus—and denied the motion. He said the question before the Court was simply as to the jurisdiction of the District Court over this subject matter. He regretted that the case had not been held up for further consideration, and that he had so little opportunity to examine the various important questions that are involved in it, with that thoroughness and deliberation that was desirable. He regretted this the more, as the case is a very peculiar and complicated one. It was one so difficult to be understood by the public. He could not be insensible to the fact that the feelings of the community were deeply involved in the question, and he feared there might be misapprehensions of the real questions to be disposed of by the Court. It is possible, he said, that there may be some misrepresentation. He would therefore have preferred that time should have been allowed for him to give a written opinion. But the counsel having thought it advisable, he did not say it was not excusable, to call upon the Court to dispose of the case now, he was compelled, though much against his wishes, to dispose of it in the best way he could.

The question to be decided now is not as to the ultimate rights of either party—but it is whether the District Court can take cognizance of the subject matter that grows out of this case. In order to ascertain this, we must recur to the laws of the United States. The case has been placed before the Court on the abstract right of holding human beings in bondage, or on the general question of slavery. The Court is not called upon here to determine this abstract question. It is sufficient to say that the Constitution of the United States, although the term slavery is not used, and the laws of the United States do recognize the right of one man to have the control of the labor of another man. The laws of the country are founded upon this principle. They recognize this kind of right. Whatever private motives the Court may have, or whatever may be their feelings on this subject, they are not to be brought into view in deciding this question. They must give the same construction to the laws of the land, sitting in this State, as they would were they sitting in Virginia. It is the province and the duty of the Court to determine what the laws are, and not what it might be desirable they should be. My feelings, said Judge Thompson, are personally as abhorrent to the system of slavery as those of any man here, but I must, on my oath, pronounce what the laws are on this subject. The true question, then, is as to the law, and not as to any of the questions involved in the case. The simple question to determine is as to the right of the District Court of Connecticut to take cognizance of the matter.

Under the laws of the United States, all seizures in a district are to be taken notice of in that district where the seizure is made. The important question is always as to the place of seizure, and the question always turns upon that. If a seizure is made within the limits of a State, the jurisdiction of the District Court is local. If it is made on the high seas, any District Court may take cognizance of the matter. When there was the seizure made in this case? It seems to be agreed by the counsel on both sides that the seizure was actually made in the district of New York. If that be the case, this District Court has no jurisdiction of it whatever. But if the seizure was in fact made on the high seas, this District Court has jurisdiction. Judge T. said he had supposed, at first, that the seizure was in fact made in the district of New York, but when he came to examine the matter, he found it was not so. Lieut. Gedney, in his libel, states no such thing. He says he was on a survey within the State of New York, but he does not say that he actually discovered the schooner Amistad within that district, and that he made the seizure within the district of New York. All the evidence before the Court is what appears in the libel. The vessel, it seems, was taken off Montauk Point. The Grand Jury, in their statement, say it was a mile distant from the shore. If this be correct, it was a seizure upon the high seas, and therefore the matter is rightfully before the Court for this District.

In the absence of absolute certainty on this point, the Court can endeavor to ascertain, from the best evidence in their reach, by examining maps and charts, the locality of the place; and after making such an examination, they are of opinion that the actual place of seizure does not appear to be within the jurisdiction of the District Court of

New York, but upon the high seas. The Admiralty jurisdiction upon the ocean extends to low water mark. Between high and low water mark there is alternate jurisdiction between the admiralty and common law courts. In deciding then that the seizure was made in the judgment of the Court, upon the high seas—if either party is dissatisfied, the Court can institute enquiry to ascertain the exact place, but the more regular course is for the party dissatisfied to interpose a plea to the jurisdiction of the Court, and then the District Court must institute an enquiry to ascertain where the seizure was made. It is not competent then for this Court, at the present time, to say the District Court has no jurisdiction in the case.—Consequently, this Court cannot now pass upon the question as to the property—that matter belongs to the District Court. Should either party be dissatisfied with the decision of that Court, an appeal can be taken to the Circuit Court, and afterwards to the Supreme Court of the U. States. Meantime, the parties must be put to their pleas in the District Court, in order that all the facts, &c. may be put upon record.

It has been said that this is a question of LIBERTY, and therefore that this Court ought to decide the case in a summary and prompt manner. But, in the judgment of the Court, this ought to have no influence in the decision. The situation of the prisoners is such that they must be taken care of by somebody. They did not come here voluntarily. It is not the case, therefore, of persons coming here of their own accord, and being taken up by other persons against their will. If the District Court has jurisdiction of the schooner, they have jurisdiction of the persons of these Africans, and they are bound to provide necessaries for them. They can provide for them as well as any other persons. The case seems to have been argued on the part of the prisoners as if they ought to be discharged if the Court has no jurisdiction. This is not so. If it should be decided that the District Court here has no jurisdiction, they can decide also that the cause be transferred to the District Court of New York. The Court would, in that case, send the vessel and cargo, and everything appertaining, to that Court. The prisoners would not be discharged, but sent also to the District Court of New York. No benefit would arise to them in being removed from this to another District. It is therefore a matter of no consequence to the prisoners whether the question is tried here, or in the District of New York.

It has been said that the subsequent proceedings in filling these libels and claims here, were without authority. But if the case is within the jurisdiction of the District Court, other libels could be filed. It is true, that if original libels have been filed in order to bring the matter within the jurisdiction of this Court, the proceedings may be irregular. If there is any irregularity, it can be corrected by filing a new libel—the case being in the possession of the District Court, it is bound to receive claims of any body. This Court cannot decide whether these Spaniards have a right to these persons, or whether they should be put in the possession of the President of the U. States. These questions are not now regularly before the Court. They must come up hereafter, and the Court must dispose of them. The Courts of the United States have taken cognizance of cases analogous to this. The question of jurisdiction is a preliminary question, and the Court should not decide questions of abstract right. The Courts of the United States have taken cognizance, of cases where foreigners claimed the persons of slaves.—But this is the first instance where a writ of habeas corpus has been applied for. It has never been made a question whether they were instantly free on being brought into the United States. The case of the Antelope is directly in point. The Spanish and Portuguese consuls claimed these subjects as property—the Court said they must show their title.

There may be an impression here, that because slavery is not tolerated in Connecticut, that the right of these Spaniards should not be investigated. The Court, however, must be governed by the laws of the United States, and not by the laws of the State of Connecticut. Our form of Government recognized the right to import slaves up to the year 1808. It is true the Constitution does not use that language, but it recognizes the right to a certain period, and declares until then it was a lawful importation.

The Constitution also provides for the recovery of persons that may escape from one State into another where service is due. It goes even beyond this, and interdicts the States from passing laws that oppose claimants from taking fugitive persons in the free States. Should any State pass such laws, they would be absolutely void. We must look at things as they are. The Court feel bound, therefore, to say that there is no ground upon which they can entertain the motion under the writ of habeas corpus.

EARLY REPUTATION.—It is an old proverb, that he who aims at the sun, to be sure he will never reach it, but his arrow will fly higher than if he aims at an object on a level with himself. Just so in the formation of character. Set your standard high, and though you may not reach it, you can hardly fail to rise higher than if you aimed at some inferior excellence. Young men are not in general conscious of what they are capable of doing. They do not task their faculties, nor improve their power, nor attempt as they ought to rise to superior excellence; they have no high, commanding object at which to aim; but often seem to be passing away life without object or without aim. The consequence is, their efforts are feeble; they are not waked up to any thing great or distinguished; and therefore fail to acquire a character of decided worth.

Intercourse with persons of decided virtue and excellence is of great importance in the formation of a good character. The force of example is powerful. We are creatures of imitation, and by a necessary influence, our temper and habits are very much formed on the model of those with whom we familiarly associate. In this view, nothing is of more importance to young men than the choice of their companions. If they select for their associates the intelligent, the virtuous and the enterprising, great and most happy will be the effect on their own character and habits. With these living patterns of excellence before them, they can hardly fail to feel a disgust at every thing that is low and unworthy. Young men are in general but little aware how much their reputation is affected in the view of the public, by the company they keep. The character of their associates is soon regarded as their own. If they seek the society of the worthy, it elevates them in the public estimation, as it is an evidence that they respect others. On the contrary, intimacy with persons of bad character always sink a young man in the eye of the public.—Western Presbyterian Herald.

LIFE IN TEXAS.—The following is an extract from a letter received from Galveston, Texas.

"Last Sunday I was married. We immediately mounted our mules; I took little Maria on behind me, and my wife rode another mule; a servant accompanied us, and having previously sent forward our baggage, we commenced our journey of a few miles to Brazoria, to take a vessel down the river. The travelling was dreadful. My trusty mule would plunge into the mud, and I expected every moment that my newly acquired daughter would be buried alive; but she clung to me with the tenacity of a little monkey. At Brazoria I was compelled to deliver my precious charge to the care of a friend to accompany them down the river to Velasco, as I had no one to ride the mule back to its owner. My wife reached her place of destination without delay or inconvenience. But I was not so fortunate, I got lost in one of those interminable prairies, and was finally engulfed in a deep morass, together with my poor animal. We extricated ourselves safely, but for six hours I had to ride with my clothes besmeared with mud. Not a human being could I find. But herds of deer were bounding around me, and I saw innumerable quantities of wild fowl. At length, however, I reached a house, and am now in perfect health."

The Charleston papers state that at a meeting of the Stockholders of the Charleston and Cincinnati Railroad Company, held at Ashville, N. C. on the 16th instant, a resolution was passed to suspend all works beyond Columbia until the road to that place be first made, and also another resolution, that the States interested in the project be appealed to and informed that the road must stop at Columbia, unless they come to its assistance.

It is understood that the aid of the States in question will not be granted, and consequently the Road must stop at Columbia.

From the Knoxville Times.

Very few persons know how nearly the route from Knoxville to Charleston by way of Hiwassee Railroad, is completed. The following is the present state of the work:

From Charleston to Augusta, 136 miles finished and in use.

From Augusta to Greensboro', 100 miles—finished and in use.

From Greensboro', to Madison, 20 miles—graded but not laid with rails.

From Madison to Decatur, 50 miles—nothing yet done.

From Decatur to Red Clay on Tennessee line, (the Western and Atlantic State road of Georgia) 115 miles, 100 very nearly graded—heavy forces at work.

From Red Clay to Knoxville, by Hiwassee Railroad, 97 miles—70 will be graded in six weeks—heavy forces on the remainder, and the delivering of timber for railing progressing rapidly.

Thus we see that of the whole distance from Knoxville to Charleston by way of the Hiwassee Railroad, (510 miles,) nearly one half is in use: while 426 miles are actually either with the rails, or ready graded to receive them. It is not strange that any man can seriously advocate the Charleston and Cinn. Railroad in preference to the Hiwassee route to Charleston when more than FOUR FIFTHS of the latter are ready for the rails, and workmen scattered over nearly the whole of the remaining fifth.

TEXAS.—Galveston papers to the 14th have been received at New Orleans.

The city of Houston is represented to be remarkably healthy. The Telegraph says, "we have not heard of a death for a week past."

The general election passed off at Houston very quietly.

The Galveston Civilian of Sept. 13, states—"We have little domestic news of importance.—About eighty men left this city on Monday morning to serve against the Indians on the frontier, in case they should be needed. Several hundred men will be kept regularly in the field, until all apprehensions of further trouble from the savages have subsided."

The Houston Telegraph states that General Araya has paid a visit to Texas, for the purpose of negotiating with that Government for aid, in establishing a new Republic out of a portion of the Eastern States of Mexico, and opposing the power of the Central Government.

The Houston Telegraph states that Gen. Sam'l Houston has been elected to Congress from San Augustine. In Nacogdoches county, Mr. Kaufman is elected, and a tie between Mr. Muse and his competitor.

Capt. Holliday, who returned recently from the East, states that all was quiet in that quarter, and that no apprehension was entertained from the Cherokees.

The Telegraph states that flour is selling at from 60 to 75 dollars per barrel.

One hundred lots in Iowa City, the future seat of government of Iowa, lately sold for $17,000.

KENTUCKY GAZETTE.

LEXINGTON:
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1839.

FOR PRESIDENT,
MARTIN VAN BUREN.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
RICHARD M. JOHNSON.

We delayed putting our paper to press until the arrival of last night's mail, hoping to receive full accounts from the Maryland elections, in which we were disappointed. It seems admitted, however, that the democrats have elected six members of Congress, whilst the Whigs have elected only two—Messrs. Johnson and Jennifer. In the state Legislature there were 42 republicans and 19 Whigs.

The Ohio elections commenced on Tuesday; but as they continue three days, and the voting is by ballot, we shall not know the result for several days.

Silk Spinning.—This beautiful operation has been exhibited in this city for the two last days, and will be continued to-day, from 9 o'clock, A. M. until 12, and from 3 o'clock, P. M. until 5, in the second story of No. 45, E. Main street, next door below Oldham Todd, & Co's, where ladies and gentlemen are invited to call and witness the operation.

Our citizen soldiers seem to have had a new spirit infused into them since the anniversary celebration of the Lexington Light Infantry, and we learn that the several uniform companies are preparing to equip themselves in new, beautiful and appropriate uniforms.

On Tuesday we called at the shop of Mr. Butt, on Jordan's Row, where we saw a member of the Lexington Artillery Company decorated with a new military costume of the most elegant and becoming kind, and were informed that the whole expense only amounted to $35. According to our notions of elegance, and "the eternal fitness of things," we never saw any thing to surpass this dress, nor even to come up to it. We advise our youthful citizens, who have military aspirations, to call and examine it, previous to ordering a suit.

R. P. Brown, Esq. the new editor of the Lexington Intelligencer, made his first appearance in that station on Tuesday morning. There can be no doubt of Mr. Brown's partiality for Mr. Clay for the Presidency. In his opening address he says, "we prefer him to any one who has been named in the present canvass."

On Saturday last, Wagner again won the 4 mile race at three heats, beating Grey Eagle, who won the first heat, and Wiley's b. f. Emily Johnson.

1st heat, 7m. 51s. 2d heat, 7m. 43s.
Grey Eagle "let down" in the third heat.

We think two such races in one week, the highest of cruelty to the noble animals, and no prospect of gain ought to tolerate it.

A meeting of the Democratic citizens of Woodford county, was held at Versailles on Monday last, for the purpose of choosing delegates to the Convention to be held on the 8th January next, at Frankfort.

Gen. McConnell presided over the meeting, and Herman Bowmar, Jr. Esq. acted as Secretary. Delegates to the Convention were chosen, we understand, but we have not heard their names.

We are not in the habit of shouting upon Whig Victories, or we should have been too hoarse to utter a sound at this time.

The following is from the Ohio Statesman of Monday last, and our Baltimore papers of the third seem to confirm the account.

THE GLORIOUS TRIUMPH OF DEMOCRACY IN MARYLAND CONFIRMED.—In addition to the news we gave in our extra of yesterday, we now give the following letter:

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 5, 1839.

DEAR SIR: Give a shout for Old Maryland.—Out of the eight members of Congress to which she is entitled, we have elected five democrats, good and true—the whigs two; and in the district to hear from we have an equal chance of success. We have also elected certainly 41 members of the Legislature, with a chance for more, which gives us a majority of 1. Most nobly have we performed our duty.

Whiggism is essentially defunct. The following members of Congress are elected: Francis Thomas, (Dem.) Wm. C. Johnson, (Whig.) Worthington (Dem.) Hilden, (Dem.) Carroll, (Dem.) Jennifer, (Whig.) P. Francis Thomas, (Dem.) In the district to hear from, Dennis and Donaho, (Whigs,) and Stewart, (Dem.) are the candidates.

Yours,

In addition to the above, the Baltimore Patriot admits 43 democrats elected to the House of Representatives, which is a majority of SIX! This is beyond the most sanguine expectations, and shows clearly the onward and certain progress of democratic principles over Bank monopolies.

From the Ohio elections, which commenced on Tuesday, we have yet heard nothing. By our next we hope to be able to give pretty full accounts.

A heavy loss has been sustained by South Carolina, in the death of two of her most prominent sons—General ROBERT Y. HAYNE, who died at Asheville, of bilious fever, in the 49th year of his age, and Col. A. BLENDING, who died near Charleston, of yellow fever. The first was President of the Charleston and Ohio Railroad, and the latter President of the Railroad Bank.

From the Louisianian of the 25th Sept. we learn that the interments in New Orleans on the 23d were 15
On the 24th, 39

In the other Southern cities where the yellow fever had raged, there appears to have been no abatement in the fatality of the disease; and absentees are earnestly exhorted not to return, until by the reports of the boards of health, they are advised they can do so with safety.

At the present time, there exists in the monetary concerns of this country, a pressure, far surpassing in severity any that ruined thousands at previous times. We have frequently asked the cause of this, and have been informed by men of high reputation for financial abilities, that it is owing to the embarrassed state of the Bank of England, the advance of the rate of interest by that Bank, necessary to her protection, and the consequent drain of specie from this country, to supply her vaults. We have asked again, how can the contractions and expansions of the Bank of England affect us in the United States? and have been answered, the balance of trade between the United States and Great Britain, is in favor of the latter to a heavy amount. Consequently, it depends upon her situation whether she receives specie or not, in payment of this balance. If the Bank of England expands greatly her circulation, and there should be a failure of the crop, as there was last year, heavy demands will be made upon her for specie, for exportation, and a rapid contraction and advance of the rate of interest, is a necessary consequence to avoid a suspension. This produces great embarrassment among her manufacturers and merchants, and they not being able to procure the paper of the Bank to pay their liabilities, draw all their balances from this country in specie. Hence, the Banks in this country are compelled to contract rapidly their circulation in self-defence, and consequently the pressure and embarrassment the United States is now groaning under. If the Bank of England discounts freely, at a low rate of interest, all are prosperous there, and in this country; if the reverse be the case, gloom, pressure, fall of stocks and bankruptcies occur in both countries.

Has it come to this, that the people of the United States, who so gloriously won their freedom from England, stimulated to the effort by the oppressions of that country, should now, when powerful, and stand high among the nations of the earth, become greater slaves than ever to their mother country, through the INFLUENCE OF MONEY. Will you admit this and call yourselves freemen? We would not, were our eyes open to the fact, which is undeniable. England, by the potency of her money, has taken from us all the enjoyments of liberty, whilst she blinds us to the fact, by allowing us to think we are free. The Banks of this country are as absolutely under the control of British capitalists, as our slaves are to us, and we are trucklers and slaves to the Banks of this country. Look at the feverish state of New York a few days prior to an expected arrival of a steam ship. Nearly all business is suspended—the brokers and banks scarcely do any business—all is anxiety, suspense and apprehension. Should the news be unfavorable, the Banks become alarmed and contract rapidly—the merchants are consequently pressed; they press the farmer, manufacturer and mechanic; wages, produce, stocks fall. In a word, the whole United States are thrown into gloom, confusion, alarm, and is affected through all the ramifications of its various interests. Is this picture exaggerated? If any one thinks so, let him consult the papers throughout this Union, particularly those of New York, and he will find it falls short of the truth. How are we to relieve ourselves from this state of things, and resume our proud stand as a people independent of a foreign power, and the contemptible corporations of our own country? This is a question of vital importance, upon the correct decision of which depends not only our liberty and happiness, but that of our posterity. Can the State Banks do it? They have been tried sufficiently in all conscience, to convince every thinking man that they not only cannot, but that they are the greatest curse ever inflicted upon any nation. Look at the present rate of exchange on different points of the United States, and their fluctuations—they are ruinous. Look at the suspensions here and there, and their eternal dread of it, even since the late resumption. Lending one hundred dollars to-day and calling it in, for fear of suspension the next. Will any one say these institutions are beneficial to us, and can relieve us from British influence? If the State Banks cannot, what can? Some will contend a Bank of the United States is the great regulator we need to cure all our difficulties, regulate exchanges, prevent the eternal drain of specie from this country by the Bank of England—make all easy, prosperous, happy. In our next paper, we shall attempt to show that a Bank of the United States will not be able to confer all the blessings anticipated by her advocates, but that some other means must be adopted for that purpose. We will also present some other causes for the present extraordinary pressure, than those derivable from the Bank of England.

From the 1st to the 21st Sept. inclusive, the number of deaths at Mobile is stated to have been 302.

A letter from acting Governor Wickliffe, of course a circular, contained in the Observer of yesterday, discloses facts of the highest importance to the citizens of Kentucky.

The party which has wielded our State government for years, and involved it in the difficulties of which the Governor speaks, has been in the incessant habit of taunting the General Government with being bankrupt. Let them now cast their eyes at home, and see to what the improvident and wasteful course of the Whig administration of Kentucky, has reduced that State—a State rich in every necessary, except wisdom.

The Governor calls upon the capitalists of the State to purchase the State bonds, and thereby relieve his embarrassments, and asks for a meeting of such in this city on the third Monday of the present month.

But it is not the province of the true patriot to refuse to relieve his country, because that country has acted injudiciously, who she is in difficulty, if in his power. Wherefore, we hope that those having the ability will meet the views of his Excellency, by taking the State bonds to the amount of $200,000, which he thinks will be sufficient to extricate the State from impending ruin; and then apply the pruning knife to the abuses which have been charged upon the State administration.

We subjoin Gov. Wickliffe's letter:

FRANKFORT, Sept. 12, 1839.

DEAR SIR:—I address you upon a subject deeply interesting to the State of Kentucky, and one which I am sure you, in common with others of your fellow-citizens, will acknowledge calls for the united action of all who have taken any part in giving birth to the present system of Internal Improvement in Kentucky. My present situation and official connection with the Commonwealth, is one of peculiar difficulty and embarrassment. Required by the Constitution to discharge the duties of Chief Magistrate, for the ensuing year, the first enquiry which presented itself to my mind, was, how are the means to be procured, under the provisions of the law of the last Legislature, to save the public works, the most important of which are now nearly completed. I discovered my distinguished predecessor had, by all that wisdom which ever characterized his public acts, essayed in vain to effect a sale of the State Bonds in the eastern market. The Agent, after the use of all the measures which a due regard for the dignity and interest of the State dictated, is upon his return home. The Banks, with a liberality which does honor to their Directory, have extended to the Board of Internal Improvement a loan equal to their ability, considering their obligations to the commerce and trade of the country, and the condition of its currency. The means of the Board will be exhausted by the month of December. The locks and dams, particularly on the Kentucky river, unfinished, and, in that state, creating positive obstructions to the navigation of the stream. The obligations and debts existing and due to public contractors, both upon the rivers and the roads, uncanceled. The whole system in danger, and the public funds expended, with the works unfinished; not only lost, but that loss working a greater injury by its consequences. These difficulties have pressed themselves upon my mind, and in my reflections how they could be overcome, I have been pointed to the patriotism of my fellow-citizens, which has never failed to answer the calls of the Commonwealth when made, no matter what the emergency or the duty to be performed.

With $200,000 in addition to the funds on hand the present works under contract, and whose completion is so much desired, may be completed, the whole system saved, and the public faith preserved.

The thought has occurred to me that that sum could be raised by a sale of the State six per cent. Bonds, to the citizens of Kentucky, if an effort and an appeal were made to them. I am fully aware that there is not capital in Kentucky seeking an investment of the character proposed as matter of profit; but I am satisfied that there are two hundred men in Kentucky, if they could be convinced and made to understand the wants of their State at the present crisis, who would spare from their private fortunes, one or two thousand dollars each, by becoming purchasers of the six per cent. State Bonds, which I am authorized to sell. These bonds must, in the course of a short time, command a premium; and the purchasers, if they desired it, could easily convert them into money. The effect this would have upon the credit of the State, and the value of her stocks, would be instantly felt, to say nothing of the influence it must have upon the future Legislation of the Commonwealth upon the subject of Internal Improvement.

I cannot, in this letter, enter into a further illustration of the subject. I now appeal to you, sir, to give your aid. You can render to your State and to posterity, incalculable benefits, without serious loss or inconvenience to your private fortune. If you concur with me in the views presented, I wish your early answer. I propose, in conjunction with the President of the Board of Internal Improvement, to meet you and others, to whom I have addressed a similar communication, on the 3d Monday in October next, at Lexington. May I solicit your patriotic aid to enlist others also to come. We only want the engagement to pay, say one half in January and the remainder in 90 or 120 days. Come and aid us with your counsels if you cannot yourself purchase, you may induce others. If I obtain favorable answers, public notice will be given. Hoping that I may find you favorably inclined to aid me in this effort to sustain the interest of our State, I subscribe myself

Your obedient servant,

C. A. WICKLIFFE.

We were bred in the Democratic school, where the title of citizen was deemed sufficiently respectful, to be addressed to any individual, however exalted his standing might have been—such as citizen Thomas Jefferson, citizen James Madison, citizen Albert Gallatin, &c. hence we are unable to answer the question how R. W.* became an honorable? We hope, however, that some of our correspondents better versed in the titles which have been attached to the servants of this republic, to whom no title of nobility shall be granted, will inform us what title belongs to

The President of the United States,
The Vice President,

The several Heads of Departments,
The Foreign Ambassadors and their trains,
Senators in Congress,
Representatives in ditto,
Governors and Lt. Governors of States,
State Senators and Representatives,
Chief Justices and Judges, Federal and local,
together with all other officers, Federal and State, to which those titles are applied.

To enlighten we Democrats, and to prevent our falling into unpardonable errors, we should be glad to be informed, through our own, or any other paper.

*We have seen several letters addressed to the Hon. R. W. and hence the query.

For the Kentucky Gazette.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Female Benevolent Society and Provident Association, of Lexington Ky.

The managers of the Female Benevolent Society and Provident Association of Lexington, beg leave to submit for public consideration, their first annual report, under the new organization. It is well known, that the females of Lexington established a Benevolent Society about twenty-two years ago, which has been productive of much good; and although the present Institution has some additional features, the grand object is not materially altered. The leading design has been, and now is, to elevate the character and condition of the indigent classes, and especially of indigent females; to lessen the tendencies to an evil course of life, and to inspire a love of honest industry, and that self-respect and independent spirit, without which, all attempts to ameliorate the circumstances of the poor, will prove abortive.

The long continued career of success, attendant on the Provident Associations and Houses of Industry, in Eastern cities, inspired the hope, that a similar appendage to our ancient Benevolent Society, would not be in vain. It was believed that the establishment of a Depository, where females could always obtain work, and be suitably compensated, and where the fruits of their industry would find a ready market, thus affording a profit, to enable the managers to sustain the sick poor, who cannot work, and give occasional aid to a needy and suffering stranger, was a desideratum in our city, which the friends of humanity could not fail to countenance, in a suitable manner. It was resolved, therefore, in September, 1838, to carry out the scheme, according to these suggestions, and a house was procured, and a superintendent engaged, forthwith. Donations and subscriptions were speedily made, amounting to about six hundred and eighty dollars, including the old fashioned annual payment of fifty cents per annum by about two hundred regular contributors. The materials, to be made up into garments, were carefully purchased by a committee appointed for the purpose; and all such garments are kept for sale, at the Depository, at a reasonable profit. The citizens have sent in work to be made, in considerable quantities, on which also, a small profit has been charged, to keep up the establishment. In addition to supplying females with work, aid has been extended to the sick, in donations of fuel and clothing. The best result of the year's operations is, that our city has been scarcely annoyed with street beggars, since the citizens have had it in their power to circulate the desirable information, that all who were willing to work, and get an honest living, could do so, by calling at the Depository. To prevent impositions on the benevolence of the Institution, visiting committees have been appointed, from time to time, to make full inquiry in all doubtful cases. The greatest care is, therefore, exercised, to secure the end for which the association was originally designed. The total amount paid to females, for work done in the course of the year, is NINE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN DOLLARS; for which sum, 1727 garments were made for the Depository, and 461 for families. The number of females thus sustained during the year, is 85 widows with small children. The value of stock now on hand, including garments materials, &c. is $1,443 23 cts. and we are indebted to merchants and others, the sum of $700, having actually paid them over 1200 dollars in the course of the year. Here let us pause, to express our grateful thanks to the merchants of this city, who have not only granted to our Institution such liberal credit, but otherwise kindly encouraged and patronised us. In an especial manner we are indebted to Mr John Norton, for pecuniary aid and other manifestations of his deep concern for the success of the Institution.

It may readily be perceived by this report, that the Society is embarrassed for the want of funds, to purchase more materials, to resume operations, which were suspended during several months.—They feel unwilling to contract a further debt, unless the citizens will enable them to liquidate the one which now embarrasses their operations.

The Depository needs replenishing, and had it the means, could readily keep an ample stock always on hand, thereby extending our benevolence.

When it is recollected that the managers devote much time and attention to this institution, solely for the purpose of carrying out the laudable design set forth in this report, and with no other reward, than that of an approving conscience, and the high satisfaction of lessening in some small degree, the amount of human wretchedness, it can scarcely be doubted, that the liberal minded citizens of Lexington will be forward in promoting an object, so purely benevolent, in all its details.

That some errors and mistakes have been committed, in the incipient stage of our operations, is not denied, for infirmity is a part of our nature.—But, it is believed, that a year's experience has sufficed, to enable the managers so to conduct the institution, hereafter, if properly sustained by the public, as to give general satisfaction.

The managers are particularly desirous that all who originally subscribed fifty cents per annum, and those who have recently added their names to the list, should continue to evince their interest in this institution; and they would be happy to swell the number, by the addition of as many more. At the same time, it will be exceedingly gratifying to receive larger and munificent donations, so that we may be enabled to place the concern on a permanent basis. A gentleman of Cincinnati has recently presented five hundred dollars, to a sister institution, in that city. Will not some of our wealthy and generous Lexingtonians, "go and do likewise." Such charity is doubly blessed; it blesseth him who gives, as well as those who receive.

By order of the Board of Managers,
ANNA M. SHELBY, Secretary.
Lexington, September 30, 1839.

The Board of Managers of the above Institution, is composed as follows, viz:

The Board would respectfully acknowledge the generous subscription of one hundred dollars, as the fruit of the effort made at their annual meeting on the 30th ultimo. Those who have not yet paid the sums subscribed, and any others who had not an opportunity of contributing, will confer a favor on the association, by forwarding their donations to either of the Managers, at an early day.

From the New York Evening Post.

It is clear enough that if there be but twenty seats and twenty covers at a banquet for thirty or forty guests, they cannot all sit down. Some must stand and amuse themselves as well as they can with seeing the others eat. The like is the case with the money market at present. The number of borrowers is greater than the means of accommodation; there are more guests than meat. Besides, there are guests of distinction, to make room for whom the humbler are unceremoniously thrust aside.

Who are they that at present besiege the money market, the crowds of borrowers that storm the doors of the bankers and capitalists for loans?—Not, as heretofore, individual traders and single speculators merely, but communities and corporations. Merchants are elbowing out of the path by these mighty solicitors. States are in the market with their stock of internal improvement, offering their stocks and bonds and asking for money; vast chartered associations are in the market looking for loans. Repelled from the money market of Europe, where they have already taken up all the capitalists are willing to invest in such a manner, they have made an onset on ours, an army of giant invaders, dispossessing the ancient and more feeble inhabitants. What chance has an individual of obtaining his accustomed accommodations, when he makes his request in competition with a state?—The credit of the state is better than any private credit, and will be preferred by capitalists; the state will get the money and the individual will be rejected.

All remember the complaints which were made when the inmates of the state prison at Sing Sing were set to quarrying marble and thus came into competition with the stone cutters. These complaints were deemed of so grave a nature that the legislation interposed to remove the cause. But what is such a competition, the mere act of a single state with two or three hundred workmen in a single quarry, compared with that overpowering competition, which a crowd of states fostering a multitude of projects, vast almost without limit, maintain against the mercantile community?—Private undertakings must give way, must cease, when the States are pushing forward their enterprises with so much ardor; there are neither pecuniary means nor human strength sufficient to carry them all into effect. There will be no little borrowing for individuals while there is so much borrowing for states.

But it is not merely the state governments and the companies chartered for particular enterprises which besiege the market for loans, the banks themselves have become borrowers. The issue of post notes is to all intents and purposes a borrowing. It puts the banks which emit them in possession of present funds to be repaid at a future day, and it absorbs the wealth of the capitalist which might otherwise be employed in loans to individuals.—Our banking system has been perverted into a borrowing system. While we thought in our simplicity that we had created corporations for making loans, we find we have created them for taking loans; that we have invested them with prerogatives which they only use to borrow with more facility. No wonder there is a scarcity of money when the ordinary fountains of credit reverse their office and absorb it from the community. What would be the consequence, if the springs of the earth, instead of flowing as now with water, should suck back rivers and brooks into the ground? It would require little sagacity to infer a scarcity of water.

The convulsions which now agitate the money market, are, we fervently hope, the expiring throes of the credit system. The pressure of 1837, violent as it was, did not stop the movements of that system. It has gone on ever since like a locomotive machine with a mad engineer, over rocks and precipices. The present disorder of its enginery announces that its career must soon be at an end. States, banks and individuals are dashed violently against each other, and the frail structure is dashed to pieces. The confusion will be over shortly, and will probably be followed by a period of sullen quiet.

The subscriber has in his employ, some of the best workmen in the United States, and is a practical workman himself. He assures the public that he can Manufacture Furniture as fashionable and as durable as it can be made elsewhere,—his stock is tolerable large. It is useless to enumerate articles, for I can supply my friends and customers with all kinds of Furniture on accommodating terms as any house in the city. I think I can please the majority of my customers, if beauty, durability, and low prices combined together will have the effect.

PAINTING.
I will also fill all orders for Plain, Gold or Ornamental Signs—Landscapes Painting on walls or fire boards, in oil or distemper colors—Gilding Picture Frames, together with various kinds of ORNAMENTAL PAINTING as may be wanted. All orders executed with neatness and despatch on the most reasonable terms.

It may be well for the Farmers, Merchants and Citizens generally, to keep an eye to the difference in expense and natural effect on the prosperity of the country by feeding and clothing the mechanics here at home, and those that live East of the Alleghenies. The more figuring and ciphering there is done about the matter, the more Bacon, Flour, Corn, Dry Goods, and Furniture will be sold here amongst us. I will take a few thousand pounds of Bacon, and two or three hundred barrels of Corn, in exchange for Furniture by way of experiment.

Unexampled Mammoth Scheme!!!
THE following details of a scheme of a lottery to be drawn in December next, warrants us in declaring it to be unparalleled in the history of Lotteries. Prizes to the amount have never before been offered to the public. It is true there are many blanks, but on the other hand the extremely low charge of $20 a ticket, the value and number of the Capitals, and the revival of the good old custom, of warranting that every prize shall be drawn and sold, will, we are sure, give universal satisfaction, and especially to the Six Hundred Prize-holders.
To those disposed to adventure, we recommend early application to be made to us for tickets—when the prizes are all sold, blanks only remain—the first buyers have the best chance. We, therefore, emphatically say, DELAY NOT, but at once remit and transmit to us your orders, which shall always receive our immediate attention. Lotteries to be addressed, and applications made to
